Discover Careers That Fit You

A career is an enjoyable job that challenges you. To find careers that fit you, you need to know what you like to do, what you’re good at and what you want to achieve. Once you know your interests, abilities and goals, you can match them with career possibilities.

Identify your interests
Dr. John Holland created a system of placing people’s interests into groups. He believed every person’s interests fit into at least one group and most fit into two or three groups. Your personal combination of Holland groups is your Holland Code.

To begin discovering careers that match your interests, find your Holland Code by completing the Career Interest Checklist on page 2. More in-depth interest inventories are available on the ICPAC Web site at http://icpac.indiana.edu.

Find careers that match
Using your Holland Code, you can explore a variety of work options. Look on page 3 for lists of careers that match your Holland Code groups. Circle careers that interest you, and write down any career ideas you have that are not listed.

To learn more about these jobs, request free career profiles from ICPAC at http://icpac.indiana.edu. Profiles include information on salary, work environment, skills needed and other aspects of careers.

Know your abilities
As you explore careers, consider your abilities as well as your interests. You want to choose a career you will enjoy and excel in.

You have already learned many skills, and you will learn more for your career:

- self-management skills, or personal qualities, such as getting along with others and managing your time.
- transferable skills that can be used in many different careers; for example, the ability to write well and speak clearly are required by most careers.
- specialized skills which are learned for specific careers; nurses, for example, learn how to give medications.

Assess the skills you have
Think about your hobbies, jobs and school activities. Identify the abilities you gained from these experiences by listing your activities on a sheet of paper. Next to each activity, write all of the skills you learned and used. The list on the right may help you.

Determine the skills you need
On another sheet of paper, list the skills you will need for each of the careers that interest you. Use career profiles to help you find this information. Consider self-management and transferable and specialized skills. Next to the skills required for each career:

- check the skills you already have.
- circle the skills you need to improve or learn.
- make a plan for developing the skills you will need.

Add up your interests to find your Holland Code

Count all the number 1s you’ve checked; put that total on the line in the circle marked “1s=C”. Repeat this for numbers 2 through 6. Notice, each number corresponds with a letter. Write the letters of your three highest numbers in the “Holland Code” box below.

Learn about your Holland groups and careers that match

Match the letters in your Holland Code to the first letters in the Holland groups listed on the right. For example, SAR matches the Social, Artistic and Realistic groups. Now, turn to page 3 and use your code to find careers that match your interests.

Holland Code Groups

- Conventional people like to work with data, have clerical or numerical ability and attend to detail. They usually enjoy following other people's instructions.
- Investigative people like to observe, investigate, learn, analyze, evaluate or solve problems.
- Artistic people have artistic, innovative or intuitive abilities. They usually like to work in an unstructured situation, using their imagination or creativity.
- Social people like to work with people. They like to inform, enlighten, help, train, develop or cure people. They may also be skilled with using language and words.
- Enterprising people also like to work with people, but they like to influence, persuade or perform. They like to lead or manage for organizational goals or economic gain.
- Realistic people have athletic or mechanical ability. They prefer to work with objects, machines, tools, plants or animals. They usually like to work outdoors.

Prioritize your goals

To help you choose a career, consider what you want from your work as well as your interests and abilities. Do you want a career where you earn lots of money? Do you want to have many responsibilities? The exercise below will help you discover what is most important to you in a career.

Read the 10 items that follow. Write a 1 next to the career goal that is most important to you. Then use numbers 2 through 10 to rank the remaining goals.

___ EARNINGS
how much the career pays

___ SERVICE
how much you help others

___ PRESTIGE
how much people respect your work

___ GEOGRAPHY
how important it is to live in a particular place

___ INDEPENDENCE
how much you are your own boss

___ SECURITY
how much the career promises long-term, stable employment.

___ RESPONSIBILITY
how much people depend on you

___ TEAMWORK
how much you will work as a member of a group

___ ENVIRONMENT
where most of the job will take place (outdoors, indoors, or both)

___ VARIETY
how much the job will have you doing different kinds of tasks

After you prioritize your goals, ask yourself the following questions:

- Which goals are most important to you? Why?
- Which goals are not as important to you? Why?
- What additional goals do you have for your career?

Use career profiles you requested from ICPAC to see how well each career meets your goals. You may want to make a list of the careers you are considering and note how each career will meet your various goals.

Learn more on careers

New careers are emerging all the time, so you want to keep exploring your options. As you discover careers that fit your interests, abilities and goals, find out more about them:

- ask your guidance counselor about resources, like books and computer programs, to explore careers more in depth; your counselor can also help you plan your education to prepare for careers.

- use reference materials at public libraries such as the Occupational Outlook Handbook and the Dictionary of Occupational Titles, which include information on jobs for the future.

- talk with your parents and friends’ parents about their work experiences; ask them what they do in their jobs and how they chose their careers.

- visit workplaces and meet people in careers that interest you; you can take a tour of a company, conduct an informational interview, volunteer or job shadow.
